CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

levels until the House and Senate have had the opportunity to officially act on this issue in the context of the appropriations process.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. President, my colleague from North Dakota is correct in his concern that the legislative intent on this matter must be clear. It was my understanding also that the committee clearly intended the school to remain open at current enrollment levels until the Congress officially takes action on the fiscal year 1983 Interior budget. In addition to clarifying the committee's position, this explanation should also serve as a directive to the Bureau of Indian Affairs in their future deliberations on the school.

Mr. HATFIELD. I appreciate the concern of my two colleagues from North Dakota on this matter. I understand the BIA is under court order to operate the Wahpeton School until Congress takes action to close the school and no such action has yet been taken.●

Mr. BAKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the time of convening tomorrow be changed from 9 o'clock to 9:30 a.m.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. President, we shall be back on this bill at 10 a.m. Senators should be on notice that there is no more time on the Symms amendment, so there will be a record vote tomorrow at 10 a.m.
I yield the floor.

Mr. TOWER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate turn to a period for the transaction of routine morning business not to extend beyond 5 minutes and that statements made by Senators therein not extend beyond 2 minutes.

SECRECY

Mr. TOWER. Mr. President, as in executive session, I ask unanimous consent that the injunction of secrecy be removed from the Tax Convention with the Republic of Austria, Treaty Document 97-26, transmitted to the Senate today by the President of the United States; and ask that the treaty be considered as having been read the first time; that it be referred, with accompanying papers, to the Committee on Foreign Relations and ordered to be printed; and that the President's message be printed in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The message of the President is as follows:

To the Senate of the United States:

I transmit herewith, for Senate advice and consent to ratification, the Convention between the United States of America and the Republic of Austria for the Avoidance of Double Taxation and the Prevention of Fiscal Evasion with respect to Taxes on Estates, Inheritances, Gifts, and Generation-skipping Transfers, signed at Vienna on June 21, 1982.

The Convention is the first of its kind to be negotiated between the United States and Austria. It will apply, in the United States, to the Federal estate tax, the Federal gift tax and the Federal tax on generation-skipping transfers and, in Austria, to the inheritance and gift tax.

A principal feature of the Convention is that the country of the transferor's domicile may tax transfers of estates and gifts and generation-skipping transfers on a worldwide basis, provided that it relieves the tax on specified types of property taxable on a situs basis.

I recommend that the Senate give early and favorable consideration to the Convention and give its advice and consent to ratification.

RONALD REAGAN.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, When the State Justice Institute Act, S. 537, was considered in the full Judiciary Committee earlier in the session, I reluctantly opposed reporting the bill to the floor.

Unfortunately, the conditions that spawned my opposition to the bill persist. We are still operating at a deficit, we are still in the process of attempting to balance our budget, we must still consider the budgetary impact of any new programs that we create.

Senator HEFLIN and others have presented persuasive arguments in support of Federal financial assistance for State court systems. A gentleman whom I respect very much, Chief Justice Reynoldson of the Supreme Court of Iowa, has praised this legislation in a statement to the Brookings Institution, as a potential means of enhancing State court caseload and stature. These are aims to which I certainly want to lend my support.

The amendment that I am presenting recognizes the economic implications of this bill. As currently written, the authorization for fiscal year 1983 is $20,000,000. That is followed by a 50-percent increase the following year to $30,000,000; and a 33-percent increase for fiscal year 1985 to $40,000,000.

My amendment provides that the outlays for fiscal year 1984 and 1985 not exceed $25,000,000. Besides keeping the expenditure of funds at a constant outlay, we will be saving a total of $20,000,000 or 18-percent of the funds requested in the bill. I think that this is a significant savings.

It is my understanding that the sponsor of this legislation, Mr. HEFLIN, is agreeable to the amendment. Therefore, I would hope there would be no objection by our colleagues to its adoption.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the amendment of the Senator from Iowa.

The amendment (UP No. 1205) was agreed to.

Mr. HEFLIN. Mr. President, I rise in support of Senate bill 537, the State Justice Institute Act of 1981.

The State Justice Institute Act would establish a nonprofit national institute to provide technical and financial assistance to State courts. The need for such an institute was well-established during extensive hearings held on this legislation this Congress as well as in the 96th Congress.

I thank Chairman STROM THURMOND, the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Senator JOE BIDEN, our ranking minority member and Senator BOB DOLE, chairman of the Subcommittee on Courts for the support and assistance on this most important legislation.

There are several important reasons for providing financial assistance to State courts. First, State courts share with the Federal courts the awesome responsibility of enforcing the rights and duties of the Constitution and laws of the United States. However, in recent years the workload of our State courts has significantly increased due to a number of factors, including decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court, wide-reaching social legislation by Congress and a diversion of cases from the Federal courts. It has been determined that State courts decide approximately 95 percent of all law suits tried. It is, therefore, appropriate and necessary that the Federal Government provide financial and technical assistance to State courts to help alleviate many of the administrative problems which these actions at the Federal level have caused and exacerbated. This legislation would help insure that our State courts remain strong and effective.

A second reason for providing financial assistance to State courts is the problem of crime in this country. It has long been my belief that if we are to significantly reduce crime, the Federal Government must share the responsibility of improving the administration of justice with State and local governments. The State Justice Institute would be immensely beneficial to State and local governments in their attempts to control crime and in their efforts to streamline the administration of justice once a criminal has been apprehended.

The third reason has to do with the changing role of judges generally. Earlier in this century there was much argument as to whether or not a judge's function included an obligation to see that cases in their courts moved toward disposition in a regular and efficient manner. Today, however, problems of administration have taken their place along side problems of adjudication as primary responsibilities of judges. Nearly everyone has come to acknowledge that today's judges have a duty to insure that their cases do not simply languish on the docket, but instead are moved to a conclusion with as much dispatch and economy of time and effort as practicable. This, along with a heightened interest in continuing legal education generally, has resulted in thousands of judges attending intensive orientations or refresher courses offered by such organizations as the National Judicial College, and the American Academy of Judicial Education.

The concept of a State Justice Institute has been endorsed by such organizations as the Conference of Chief Justices, the Appellate Judges Conference, and the American Bar Association.

Last Congress the Senate Judiciary Committee favorably reported out the State Justice Institute Act after adopting two important amendments proposed by Senator STROM THURMOND. On July 21, 1980, the Senate passed the bill without dissent. In the House of Representatives, Congressman ROBERT W. KASTENMEIER introduced the State Justice Institute Act, which was unanimously approved by the House Subcommittee on Courts, Civil Liberties and the Administration of Justice. I was encouraged last Congress when the State Justice Institute Act received wide, bipartisan support in both the House and the Senate and I am pleased that it has again received broad bipartisan support.

Mr. President, I would like to extend my thanks to my friend from Iowa, Senator CHUCK GRASSLEY, for his suggestions and improvements of this legislation, which I wholeheartedly endorse and am most grateful for his contribution. I would also like to thank members of the committee staff that have been of valuable assistance. Vinton "Dee" Lides, Eric Hultman, Will Lucius, Pete Velde, Shelia Blair, Scott Green, John Maxwell, and Lynda Nersesian.

Mr. President, I support this vital legislation and encourage all Members of the Senate to vote and support Senate bill 537.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the engrossment and the third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, was read the third time, and passed, as follows:

THE CENTER FOR THE STUDY OF READING

Mr. PERCY. Mr. President, I would like to take this opportunity to call attention to one example of Federal investment in educational research at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign that has great importance
